Drug Free Pain Relief Helps Users Live Life to the Fullest

Schaumburg - NeuroMetrix, Inc. (NASDAQ:NURO) and Prism Health Care Services, Inc announced today that Prism is an exclusive distributor of Quell® Wearable Pain Relief Technology in Illinois and Wisconsin. Prism is the only durable medical equipment provider in the area offering the Quell device. Quell will be available for purchase in Prism's showroom in Schaumburg or by calling Prism.

According to Susan Cesek, general manager of Prism Health Care Services, Inc., "Many of our patients suffer from chronic pain. We are thrilled to add a drug-free pain management solution to our product portfolio at an affordable price. Quell is going to enhance our line of comprehensive medical products that we offer to clients."

Quell Wearable Pain Relief Technology provides drug free pain relief.

Quell is an easy-to-use, over-the-counter device for chronic pain relief. It is the only FDA approved pain relief device for day and night use. While it can help many individuals suffering from chronic pain, it is designed for people with painful fibromyalgia, diabetic neuropathy, sciatica and osteoarthritis among others. The device is calibrated to a person's body to ensure they receive the exact amount of relief needed day and night. Bluetooth technology connects to iOS and Android apps to track the user's therapy, sleep quality and history.

The wearable device, which is worn in an adjustable, breathable sports band, utilizes NeuroMetrix's wearable intensive nerve stimulation (WINS) technology to provide pain relief. In a recent clinical study, 81 percent of participants reported improvement with chronic pain and overall health after using Quell. Quell is available through select health care professionals and retailers. Prism is an exclusive provider of Quell products for its rehabilitation and home health facilities in Illinois and Wisconsin.

"We are excited to embark on this partnership with Prism Health Care Services as part of our strategy to engage health care professionals in dispensing and recommending Quell to patients who suffer from chronic pain," said Frank McGillin, senior vice president and general manager of the consumer business for NeuroMetrix.
